For parents, raising a child with emotional, behavioral, learning, or developmental issues can sometimes require extra support and guidance. Our goal is to meet the unique needs of individuals, ages 3-21, facing mental health and developmental challenges and to provide families with the resources to create the foundations for future success. Once children make advancements with their treatment centers, schools, or outpatient facilities, they often face the problem of losing progress due to inefficiencies in their new environment. Our behavioral health program is designed to alleviate these inconsistencies and maintain the long-term objectives of your

We are tenacious problem solvers with legal expertise in all aspects of the law impacting youth. Our primary areas of practice focus on youth rights to education, healthcare, housing and the intersections between the child welfare and juvenile justice systems. We find out what matters to youth who ask for our help, and our lawyers champion their solutions to overcome the obstacles to their success. We stand with youth. Our legal expertise and training give us a unique vantage point. We see how injustice and inequity are hard-wired into public systems of care. We are driven to shine light where policies and practices allow for disparities and poor outcomes to persist. We are earnest in calling in key stakeholders to dismantle systems that don't work. We are dedicated to holding space for impacted youth and community to develop and drive the solutions and strategies that replace outdated and ineffective approaches that dehumanize, isolate and damage youth. Our programs include: legal services when youth are in crisis and not receiving the support they need to thrive, training/consulting when proven solutions and approaches are not being used in the field, and policy advocacy when current practices repeatedly and systematically hold young people back.

The EEOC, along with state and local civil rights enforcement agencies, work together to enforce the part of the ADA that prohibits job discrimination. Mediation is a form of Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR) offered by EEOC as an alternative to the traditional investigative or litigation process. Mediation is an informal process in which a neutral third party helps the opposing parties reach a voluntary, negotiated resolution on a charge of discrimination.

United Way of Pierce County's history is rooted in partnerships - bringing people from different walks of life together to improve conditions for children, families and individuals. We strategically invest in and develop programs that are aligned to address the root issues of poverty. We partner with the private, public and non-profit sector to leverage resources and educate the community about interconnected issues. We support those efforts with volunteer help and in-kind goods. We advocate at the state and local level to make sure government resources for struggling families are available. We put every resource we have into breaking the cycle of poverty in Pierce County.

Our classes incorporate a gentle form of the classical hatha yoga as taught by Integrative Yoga Therapy. This gentle, and slower paced approach make it more accessible to people of all sizes, ages, and fitness levels. It is non-competitive and most positions are easily modified to fit the individual needs of the practitioner. Yoga has been around for over 5,000 years and has proven itself to be a valuable complimentary approach to healing and nurturing the mind, body and spirit. Our style of yoga is not about twisting yourself into a pretzel, it is about gentle, slow moving postures that bring health, enjoyment, and well being into your life. All of our classes in our Home Studio are drop-in classes. We would love to welcome you to the world of yoga where you'll find new friends, new adventures and like minded people. Also group lessons are available in our studio or at your location for your special needs.

The Washington Association for Learning Alternatives is a non-profit corporation for the benefit all those concerned with providing options in education, public and private, from preschool through post secondary. Alternative education, also known as non-traditional education or educational alternative, includes a number of approaches to teaching and learning other than mainstream or traditional education. Educational alternatives are often rooted in various philosophies that are fundamentally different from those of mainstream or traditional education. While some have strong political, scholarly, or philosophical orientations, others are more informal associations of teachers and students dissatisfied with some aspect of mainstream or traditional education. Educational alternatives, which include charter schools, alternative schools, independent schools, and home-based learning, vary widely, but often emphasize the value of small class size, close relationships between students and teachers, and a sense of community.

If you are an individual with blindness or a disability and are working, Washington Apple Health (Medicaid) may provide health care coverage and help pay for medical expenses, including Medicare premiums. Healthcare for Workers with Disabilities (HWD) is a program that provides coverage to individuals with disabilities (aged 16 through 64) with earned income who purchase health care coverage based on a sliding income scale. HWD has no asset test and the net monthly income limit is currently limited to 220 percent of the Federal Poverty Level (FPL). To be eligible, an individual must meet federal disability requirements, be employed (including self-employment) full or part time, and pay the monthly premium. To receive HWD benefits, enrollees pay a monthly premium determined as a percentage of their income. The premium will never exceed 7.5 percent of total income and may be less. American Indians and Alaska Natives are exempt from paying premiums for HWD. For more detailed information, see the HWD fact sheet at <https://www.hca.wa.gov/assets/free-or-low-cost/22-333.pdf>. (Note: Effective January 1, 2020, HWD will no longer have an age or income limit.)

The Mission of the Office of the Family and Children's Ombuds is to protect children and parents from harmful agency action or inaction, and to make agency officials and state policy makers aware of system-wide issues in the child protection and child welfare system so they can improve services. The Family and Children's Ombuds investigates complaints about agency actions or inaction that involve: any child at risk of abuse, neglect, or other harm and a child or parent involved with child protection or child welfare services. We intervene in cases in which we have determined that an agency's action or inaction is unauthorized or unreasonable. In addition to addressing complaints, we work to identify system-wide issues and recommend appropriate changes in public reports to the Governor, the Legislature and agency officials.
